

NSF Innovations in Graduate Education Solicitation (20-595)

Thank you for your interest in the Innovations in Graduate Education solicitation. To respond to solicitation-specific questions for this program, we will be scheduling several open-forum Question & Answer sessions starting in January 2022. See information below on how to join, as well as dates and times, which will be updated as sessions are scheduled. You can join for part of the time or listen to the entire session. Please pre-register using the link provided below. These sessions will only address specific, solicitation-related questions posed by attendees. Questions and answers will not be recorded.

Given the current program capacity, we ask that you plan to attend one of these forums to have your questions addressed.
